FIRE SEASON

January 1st to December 31st

Anyone lighting a fire for any purpose other than cooking or warmth must obtain a fire permit.

Read the permit carefully and keep it handy in case a member of the fire department asks to see it. Permits may be cancelled or suspended if fire risk in our area becomes too severe.

When notified of a permit cancellation or suspension, you must put your fire out right away.

SAFE BURNING PRACTICES

1. Choose A Safe Day

A fire is more likely to get out of control on a hot, dry day. Burn during the coolest, dampest, calmest time of day. Usually this is before 8:00 am or after 8:00 pm, unless an approved incinerator. Don't burn when it is too windy (see wind chart for wind speeds).

2. Stay with Your Fire

Never leave your fire, even for a short time. A fire can quickly go out of control.

3. Use an Incinerator

If you burn rubbish or forest litter often, build and use a good incinerator. Follow the steps outlined about how to build a safe incinerator.

4. Dispose of Ashes Safely

Get rid of used charcoal or ashes from your fire in a hole dug deep into mineral soil. Drown hot coals thoroughly, then cover the ashes with mineral soil.

HOW TO BUILD A SAFE INCINERATOR

1. Prepare a safe area to place the incinerator. Select a site at least 5 m from anything that could catch fire, like trees, overhanging branches, buildings and forest litter. Clear an area down to mineral soil (sand or gravel) at least 2 m in all directions from the incinerator.
2. Use a metal barrel in good condition.
3. Put a heavy screen mesh on top of the incinerator. Mesh size should be less than 7 mm. Weight the screen with a rock or brick to prevent it from falling off your incinerator.
4. Pinch holes a few cm above the bottom of the barrel, insert steel rods or pipes into the holes to support the material to be burned. This will give a clean, fast burn.
5. Punch some draft holes all around the bottom, below the rods. This will ensure good combustion.
6. Keep a shovel, rake and water nearby.

*Incinerators on EVERY property must be inspected prior to a permit being issued.
If your property is not accessible by land, contact the Municipal Office to make alternate arrangements to receive approval.*
